

Justice... Professionalism... Service... since 1886

Serving WA's GLBT Veterans

Advising Legal Clinic Clients

1.5 general CLE credits. Activity ID: 371511

Thursday June 5, 2014, 2:00 PM to 3:30 PM

KCBA, 1200 Fifth Avenue, Suite 600

1:50 – 2:00 PM

Arrival & Check-in

2:00 – 3:30 PM

Serving WA's GLBT Veterans

This training will contain a brief background of DADT and DOMA (including what they mean for service members and veterans); what the repeal of DADT means for veterans (including discharges and upgrades); what the repeal of DOMA means for veterans (including marriages and VA Benefits); where Trans* service members and veterans stand in all of this; and Cultural competency.

*Max Gibbs-Ruby, Northwest Justice Project intern
Adam Chromy, Northwest Justice Project*

3:30 PM

Evaluations and Adjourn

Biographies:

Adam Chromy, Northwest Justice Project: A native of Kent, WA, Adam Chromy is a 2011 graduate from Seattle University School of Law. Adam is dedicated to issues of social justice and has worked as an Equal Justice Works AmeriCorps Legal Fellow in Arkansas and in Seattle. He is currently employed at the Northwest Justice Project in Seattle, where he serves as part of the Veterans Project and assists low-income and homeless veterans with civil legal issues.

Max Gibbs-Ruby, Northwest Justice Project, intern: Max graduated with his J.D. from Seattle University in May. He is drawn to social justice work that addresses inequality and poverty and has a particular interest in proactive legal endeavors such as policy and legislation. He is also interested in exploring the fields of impact litigation, plaintiff's work, combatting the prison industrial system, and legal work affecting the LGBTQ communities. He enjoys bird watching, cooking, writing fiction, freshwater aquariums, opera, corresponding with his incarcerated pen pals, and games of almost any kind.

This CLE is FREE to volunteers of KCBA pro bono programs

Attendance is in person or via streaming video. Registration is NOT required.

Location to attend in person:
King County Bar Association
1200 5th Ave, Ste 600
Seattle WA 98101

To attend via streaming video log on to:
<http://www.kcba.org/streaming/streaming.aspx>